NEWS & PUBLICATIONS

Megan's practice focuses primarily on real estate and energy transactions, and throughout her career she has gained extensive experience counseling a broad range of clients in these areas. In particular, she represents owners, landlords, tenants, purchasers, sellers, borrowers and lenders in the financing, leasing, acquisition and disposition on a variety of commercial real estate projects, including industrial facilities, office towers, petrochemical facilities and shopping centers. She also represents landlords and tenants in the drafting, negotiating and enforcing commercial leases including office, industrial and build-to-suite leases.

Additionally, Megan represents foreign investors regarding liquefied natural gas projects, including drafting and negotiating tolling agreements, gas procurement agreements and master power purchase and sale agreements. Megan also has experience representing clients regarding pipeline construction and development projects. She also counsels corporate clients, both buyers and sellers, engaged in a variety of industries on real property issues in connection with mergers, asset acquisitions and dispositions.
